

Grammar

1 Rewrite the sentences using whatever, whoever, etc.

1 If anyone asks, tell them I've gone to the bank!

2 No matter what John does, Marnie will find fault with it.

3 Every time someone congratulates Rosie on her results, she blushes.

4 It doesn't matter which road you take in the rush hour, the journey will still take at least an hour.

5 She takes her mobile phone with her every place she goes.

6 My grandfather still can't understand e-mail even though he tries again and again.

7 We'll be pleased to see you anytime you want to visit.

8 I enjoy anything George cooks!

9 I've read all the newspapers and they say the same thing. The PM is going to resign.

10 I've tried spelling the word in many ways, but it still looks wrong!

11 I don't know who authorised this payment, but they should be fired!

12 I can't remember where I put the money, but I'm sure it's safe!

Mark /12

Vocabulary

2 Complete the sentences with the words in the box. There are two more words than you need.

admittedly currently deeply flatly highly hotly scarcely significantly thoroughly vaguely

1 I was so ill. I _____ remember coming home and going to bed, but that's all.

2 I _____ recommend the new Larsson book. It's excellent.

3 His style differs _____ from that of his peers.

4 The bank manager _____ refused to extend my overdraft.

5 _____ I set off a bit late, but the journey still shouldn't have taken so long.

6 What are you _____ working on?

7 I _____ slept at all last night, I was so worried.

8 Noreen's sister _____ denied taking her make-up.

Mark /8

Total /20

Grammar

1 Combine the sentences using relative clauses.

1 The latest computer is very fast indeed. Its design is extremely impressive.

2 I met some of Adrian's friends. Most had been in his class at school.

3 The moors near our house are still stunning. I walked there a lot when I was growing up.

4 The actress has recently been at the centre of a scandal. She will be taking the leading role.

5 This is the book. I told you about it.

6 Janine started to yawn. At this point Stuart stopped talking.

7 I got the information from an assistant. He joined the company two years ago.

8 There were seven students in the group. No one had studied English before.

9 He gave me lots of advice before I went to Mexico. It all proved very useful.

10 The PM talked to the reporter. He was standing in front of his house.

11 He showed me the letters. They all had mistakes in them.

12 We flew over an area of sea ice. Much will have disappeared in a few years.

Mark /12

Vocabulary

2 Complete the sentences with the words in the box with or without a negative prefix.

adjusted capable conceivable feasible functioning imaginable penetrable willing

1 My sister is on the phone all the time. She seems _____ of spending a moment without being in contact with her friends.

2 We have looked at the architect's drawings, and though they are ambitious, the plan seems _____ .

3 Dad was _____ to lend me any more money after I had spent my allowance on video games.

4 The vastness of outer space is simply _____ to the human mind.

5 The garden is one big, _____ mass of grass and plants. Dad will need a chainsaw not a mower to get it under control.

6 The fire started due to a _____ drinks machine in the school corridor.

7 Marcus seems to have _____ quite well to life in Tokyo.

8 Those kids are spoiled! They were brought up with every _____ luxury.

Mark /8

Total /20